"I wish the FunPod™ had been around when my eldest was younger. We use it every day – Zoe likes to butter her toast in a morning and she loves making cakes in it. Having fallen off a chair before, this makes my life so much easier. In just a few weeks, I have definitely had my money's worth. I would recommend it to anyone."
Jane Abbot, Herts.

"Dad's don't often get the chance to spend quality time with our kids in the kitchen so the FunPod is the perfect way to make the most of the time together. It makes food preparation fun again and they can even be a help themselves. The last time I used it, Zoe spent nearly an hour in it - there's no toy I can think of that would entertain her for that long. It feels totally secure and safe and you can really get on with things."
Ian Ilett, Surbiton.

"As a professional Registered Childminder of 13 years I provide the best possible care for the children and the most important thing to me is keeping them safe. Since introducing the fab FunPod™, we have had so much fun - the children can develop new skills and early learning goals from washing up to helping with healthy snacks – it's trendy, very well made and an asset to my childcare setting. Most important, the FunPod™ keeps the children safe, and they absolutely love it."
J.Thornton, Registered Childminder, Swindon (Judge for Practical Preschool Awards)

"I bought the FunPod because Flora always wants to help in the kitchen and she fell off the chair countless times. It's been a total revelation – we use it every day."
Francesa Muscroft, Derbyshire

"The FunPod has become a valuable addition, allowing me and Oly to work in the kitchen together in a safe manner - much more fun for both of us!!"
Helen Tibbett, Bucks.

"Thank you so much for designing the Fun Pod. Lu bangs on it every day and says "ma pod". Never have I bought something so useful. I have never eaten so many ginger biscuits or chocolate buns before but it has been a God send. Lu is in it for an hour every day. I could not be without it now."
Kate Evans, Keighley.

"We've had the FunPod for a couple of weeks now and you won't be surprised to know that Betty absolutely loves it and was in it for 2 hours on her first go. She even helped put it together (very easy to do as well – well done on producing such a brain wave)"
Mrs S. Reddick, Leicester.

"We've had the funpod a few weeks now and its a godsend. Erin loves hiding in it and jumping up to say boo! I gave your details to the nursery that Erin attends they thought it was a great idea so put the details on the wall for other parents."
Trudy, Usk

"The Funpod has really put the fun into all of our activities in the kitchen from painting to splashing around with water to playing peek-a-boo. I also have a 7 month old baby so we can all join in the fun as I can relax in the knowledge that my toddler is totally safe in the funpod and not about to fall off a chair or stool or whatever he may be balancing on. This was recommended to me by a friend and I will certainly be recommending it to other friends."

Mrs E.Middleton, Surrey

"I only wish I had had a funpod when my four children were small. But at least I will have the pleasure of one for my new grandson. Have you tried marketing them to Creche's? I certainly am spreading the word and just wish I had money myself and I would buy one each for all the new mothers I know." M.McNamara, Dublin

"Finally, finally we put it up yesterday and it's amazing. It's bank holiday weekend so we were away until then. Honestly Grace is so happy to be counter height and had two huge tantrums when I tried to take her out. She even just loves sitting in it and hiding from the world. Thanks so much." L.Thompson, New York

"My son absolutely loves his FunPod – and every-time I start to do something in the kitchen, he races to the FunPod and says "up up". He can now join me at the worktop in total safety, and we can do things together. He helps me do the cooking, and the washing up – or sometimes just colours whilst I do what I need to do. Previously he would whinge to be up with me, and then I would either sit him up on the worktop or he would balance on the chair beside me - not good practices I know – but a means to an end! I thought it would be useful, but totally underestimated how much it would be used (now I am not sure how I managed without it)." G. Baverstock, Sheffield

"What a fabulous idea the fun pod is. I have used it every day since I received it. This has made my life so much easier to know that the children are safe inside the pod and not standing on a chair about to fall off. I would recommend this product to every parent who has safety in mind for their child while still having fun." Sally Clare, Registered Childminder, Norfolk (Judge for Practical Preschool Awards)

"This has been a life saver as now I can be sure that there will be no falling off chairs. It is also good as you can move it just far away from surfaces at crucial moments and the child is still safe and not running around the kitchen. 5/5" C.Morgan, Yorks
